Viva Nylons | Brexit FAQs

On 31 January 2020, the UK began the 11 month transition period to leave European Union membership. This transition period will end 31 December 2020. If a trade agreement is not in place with the EU prior to this date the UK will be subject to World Trade Organisation rules on 1 January 2021.

We have compiled the information below to answer a selection of Frequently Asked Questions for our EU customers.

1. How is Viva Nylons Preparing for Brexit?

Viva Nylons is closely monitoring Brexit guidance and our supply chain to alleviate any potential risks which may arise.

To ensure business continuity, we have several strategies in place to continue our operations. These aim to make the process as seamless as possible for our valued customers and partners.

2. What actions have Viva Nylons taken with their supply chain?

We have conferred with our supply chain to obtain their readiness statements in the event of the UK operating to World Trade Organisation rules. In response, they have assured us that their stockholding and supply chain is vigorous enough to withstand potential delays in customs clearance and guarantee a secure transit during, and after Brexit.

3. I have not yet supplied Viva Nylons with my EORI number, how do I send this?

Please supply your EORI number to sales@vivanylons.com along with the company name.

4. Do I need to agree HS Codes / Tariff Code with Viva Nylons?

Our commodity codes for all stock items are:

- Rod: 39169090
- Plate: 39209200
- Tube: 39172900

If an item provided by us it outside of these items, we must agree a code based on what its intended usage is, what the item is made of and what the specific application is e.g. Wear pad in telehandler.

This code will be added, along with the goods description, to the commercial invoice.

5. How can I obtain a customs authorisation of export (EX document)?

Our carriers will complete this on our behalf however this may incur a cost.

6. Can I get a certificate of Origin compliant with custom rules?

This can be provided at an additional cost.

7. In cases where wood packaging is used, will Viva Nylons still be compliant to the ISPM15 treatment regulation?

We have purchased pallets that are ISPM15 compliant and are required to provide a manufacturers certificate. As a result of this, all pallets will include the manufacturer's stamp ID.
